Furious Fighting Rages On Several Sectors In Tunisia

Yanks Advance In Tunisia With Heavy Fighting

Savage Fighting On Tunisia British Front Also—Losses Heavy

AMERICANS ADVANCE UNDER INTENSE FIRE

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 30—New gains were recorded for American troops in savage fighting on the Tunisian battlefront today.

Although some successes were scored by German forces in counter attacks on several sectors United States troops of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.'s Second Army corps opened a slashing new drive yesterday which hurled the enemy back half a mile.

The German onslaughtes were directed against positions in the British First Army area running 10 to 12 miles east of Medjez-El-Bab. The British held their main positions in bitter fighting that cost heavy casualties on both sides.

The Americans gained a foothold on the slopes of Hill 609, which stands four miles east of Sidi Nsir.

Americans Advance

The Americans swept forward under intense fire, charging repeatedly up the west and south slopes of the hill.

They fought a pitched battle against grim resistance every yard of the way. Col. Gen. Dietloff Von Arnim opened a series of "deflectory" counter-attacks at a point one mile to the south, climaxed by a fairly large one at dusk.

In the face of these assaults the

Once more Lawrence county has contributed more than its share in the war effort of the nation. Far exceeding the quota allotted in the second war loan, the campaigners have not ceased their efforts, but are working to make the total as high as possible. Every cent that can be loaned to the government is needed, despite quotas, and will aid in the complete prosecution of the war to an earlier finish.

County Bond Sales Over Seven Million

Like the proverbial snowball rolling down the just as proverbial mountain side, the second war loan campaign in Lawrence county grows larger by the minute. Today at noon the Greater New Castle Association offices, headquarters for the bond campaign, reported a total of $7,036,000 which is approximately one and three-quarter millions past the quota of $5,250,000.

Just what the total will be on Saturday night when the books close is anybody's guess. It begins to look as though the total would be about 150 per cent of the quota for today the non-bank sales already have touched that percentage.

Reserve Head Congratulates

Today a telegram of congratulation was received here from M. J. Fleming, head of the Fourth Federal Reserve district in Cleveland, O. Mr. Fleming was warm in his praise of Lawrence county's magnificent record.

As it stands today Lawrence county is certain to be given a county quota flag for making its quota.

Amboina Island Base Is Attacked

Devastating Raid Made On Large Naval Base Of Japanese

HEAVY BOMBERS SPREAD DESTRUCTION

By LEE VAN ATTA
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 30.—A devastating raid by Allied planes on a seaplane base on Amboina Island, site of the second largest naval base in the Jap-occupied Dutch East Indies, was announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

Presumably the attacking formation of heavy bombers composed of American planes was maned in part by Dutch fliers familiar with the territory assaulted.

The Amboina naval base, now held by the Japs, is second in size in the Dutch East Indies only to the one at Surabaya, Java.

High explosives and incendiary bombs dropped by the attacking force ripped barracks, buildings and hangars and started numerous fires. The bombers also knocked out two of 15 Jap Zero fighter planes attempting interception. A third Zero was damaged in combat.

All Allied Planes Return

All the Allied planes returned.

Another Allied plane formation composed of medium bombers shortly before dawn attacked the enemy-occupied town of Kupang, on Dutch Timor. Numerous fires were started.

Other heavy and medium bombers in single sorties assaulted Jap outposts on New Guinea and on islands in the Arafura Sea, between New Guinea and Australia.

On New Guinea a heavy bomber left numerous fires raging in the Medang area, another bombed the waterfront of the important enemy base at Finschhafen, and a third attacked the enemy-held villages of Singor and Bumbi, in the Saidor area.

Single medium bombers crossed the Arafura Sea to raid the village of Kolsee in the Kei Islands, and left an enemy lugger sinking off the coast of Jamenda Island, in the Tenimbers.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Announcing the abrogation of all agreements with Admiral Georges Robert, high commissioner of the French West Indies, Secretary of State Cordell Hull today said the American Navy will be on the alert to protect American interests in the French Caribbean area.

Hull announced that the United States has abrogated all its agreements with Admiral Robert because the latter insists on considering himself a representatve of the Vichy government of France and refuses to cooperate with the United Nations in the war effort to liberate his own country.

The secretary also announced that this government is recalling the American counsel general at Fort De France, Martinique. (International News Service)

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30—The Anne Arundel county grand jury today returned a "presentment of fact" that Mrs. Helen Boswell Randle "did kill and murder Allen Willey on or about Jan. 31."

Such action is usually preliminary to an indictment which is expected to be drawn up by State's Attorney Marvin I. Anderson.

The shooting occurred at Randle's suburban estate and climaxed a quarrel, according to the state.

Allied Airmen Freed By Turkey

Moscow Reports Large Scale Air Victory Over Nazis

Hundred Sixteen "Nazi" Planes Shot Down In Two Days By Reds

HEAVY ATTACKS ON GROUND AT ROSTOV

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, April 30.—Increasingly heavy German assaults at the lower end of the southern front west of Rostov were reported today by the Soviet high command which declared that Soviet forces successfully beat off the attacks and inflicted a high toll of casualties on the Nazis.

Large-scale air victory against Nazi raiders in which 116 German planes have been shot down west of Krasnodar in the Caucasus during the past two days was announced officially. But the high command in its noon communique today failed to throw any light on broadcast Nazi reports that the red army had launched a new offensive in the west Caucasus.

Cost Many Nazi Planes

The counter-action of the Russians against the German air force assaults cost the Soviet air force 45 planes, it was said.

Mass raids were attempted Wednesday and Thursday by Hermann Goering's air arm on Soviet troops and military targets west of Krasnodar. After repulsing the Nazi aircraft the Soviet air force retaliated by successfully bombing German troops and military targets in the vicinity of the enemy-held Novorossisk naval base on the Black sea.

Soviet officials declared the Soviet counter-action dealt a "serious defeat" to the Germans.

During last night Soviet artillery wiped out a company of German infantry west of Rostov and destroyed seven Nazi blockhouses, the high command reported.

Some Changes In Point Values In Meat Rationing

Sixteen Advances And 25 Reductions Are Announced For May

BEEF AND PORK VALUES RAISED

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Office of Price Administration today made public the meat rationing "point table" for May, announcing a one-point increase in the values of many round steaks and roasts, a like reduction in variety meats and cuts in some canned fish.

All told, 41 changes were made—25 reductions and 16 advances—each representing a shift of one point, effective at 12:01 a. m. EWT Sunday.

The OPA rejected requests for lowered sausage point values, continuing in effect substantially the same values which were established on April 11.

Some Upward Adjustments

Martin Hilby, OPA meat rationing expert, explained that the upward adjustment in point values of steaks and roasts was necessary to balance supply and demand and slow down the rapid rate at which consumers were purchasing such cuts.

He said four factors were taken into consideration by OPA in determining point values, namely: supply, consumer preference, perishability, and the proportion of edible meat content to non-edible bone fat.

"The roasts and steaks on which the point values were advanced have a very high edible meat content and consumers went for them almost to the point of a 'run'," Hilby said.

Hilby added that the accompanying reduction in the point values of variety meats would encourage purchases of these products. With warm weather coming on, variety meats become perishable and "we don't want any waste," he said.

Scrap To Be Put On Curb For Collection Before 8 A. M. Saturday

Right after dinner tonight, before you begin that book you are reading, take a little time out and dig out the scrap around your house. Steel, iron, bronze, copper, lead, zinc, aluminum or rubber, all of them are badly needed in the war effort and all of them will be collected Saturday (May 1) by volunteer trucks aiding in the scrap collection drive.

Rev. J. Calvin Rose, city collection chairman stated today that all volunteer trucks, drivers and workers are asked to report at the Pennsylvania Power service yard on the Neshannock Creek between Mill and Jefferson streets at or before 8 o'clock Saturday morning prepared to bring in the scrap. All loads will be weighed on the Maxwell and Gibson company scales and piled in the Pennsylvania Power yard.

Volunteers To Register

People who have large unwieldly pieces of scrap that need special handling in their cellars or attics are asked to call the Greater New Castle Association, 879, today or Saturday morning.

HARRISBURG, April 30.—Gov. Edward Martin today said he was prepared to back President Roosevelt up in the coal mine dispute by calling out the state guard if necessary. He urged the coal workers to heed the President's return-to-work request.

"The President has not asked any aid from me," he told his news conference, "but of course Pennsylvania will do everything in its power to support the President as commander-in-chief."

Lewis Spurns Ultimatum On Back To Work

Indications Coal Mine Walkout Will Develop In Nation At Midnight

LONG TELEGRAM SENT TO PRESIDENT

By JACK VINCENT
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 30 — John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers, today spurned a back to work ultimatum by President Roosevelt, to indicate that he would allow a general walkout in the nation's coal mines at midnight tonight.

Lewis, after a meeting with the policy committee of his United Mine Workers, Union, did not reply directly to President Roosevelt's demand that striking miners return to the coal pits at 10 A. M. tomorrow.

However, he declared flatly that "we want an agreement—we want to work." This meant that the policy committee at a session which lasted scarcely more than an hour had voted to stand by the traditional miner policy of "no contract—no work."

Sends Long Telegram

Lewis through the policy committee, addressed a long telegram to the President at the White House.

Lewis, in the telegram, charged that the bituminous coal operators of the county which employ 450,000 of his union members, had "willfully blocked the making of an agreement."

Then Lewis said: "We respectfully advise that in our judgment the making of an agreement through a renewal of collective bargaining is the logical means of providing justice and equity to all parties."

Lewis spent long paragraphs in the telegram defending the patriotism of the miners. But is was apparent from the contents of his telegram that at midnight there would be no work in the soft coal mines unless there was "an agreement."

There still was some hope of averting a similar walkout among 90,000 hard coal miners in Eastern Pennsylvania at midnight. The miners were to meet with the hard coal operators late in the day and it was possible that the present contract of the hard coal miners would be extended for 30 days.

Lewis, in his reply to the Presi-

Japs Massing For Defense

Americans Continue To Blast At Jap Bases In Pacific Areas

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Forward Japanese defense bases barring the way to the enemy's stolen Pacific empire stood out today as the targets of America's limited but persistent sea-air blows that may be the prelude to more important United Nations offensive thrusts.

Although conservative military and naval men as well as government officials have warned that Japan may strike again at American outposts in the Pacific, recent developments showed clearly that the United States still held the upper hand in the active war zones.

American airmen held the initiative in three active war theaters by bombing and strafing almost daily enemy bases, installations and shipping in the Aleutians, the south Pacific and the Australian areas.

The Japanese meanwhile, appeared to be concentrating on reinforcing their forward bases presumably for defense rather than on massing anywhere—at present—for new invasion thrusts.

While these forward enemy bases could well be used for offensive purposes, the fact that the Japs were busy with construction work rather than with attacks intimated strongly they may be preparing defenses against possible American sea-air blows at vital points.

the official welcoming address, and short addresses were heard from the following men: Fred C. Duff, commander of the Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 343, American Legion; Frank T. Sargent, commander of the Neshannock Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars; Walter W. Duff, president of the Lawrence county chapter, American Red Cross; Cecil Suber, commandant of the local Marine Veterans post.

The principal speaker of the evening was Paul J. Maholchic, field representative of the Federal Security Agency. "The citizens of New Castle can be proud of this USO center," said Mr. Maholchic. "Not alone that, but you can be proud of the work done by New Castle people particularly the Bundles for America group, in furnishing day rooms at the camp at Transfer. The job of operating this USO center calls for the cooperation of all the citizenry, but I am confident that the co-operation will be forthcoming." Mr. Maholchic expressed the regrets of Col. George H. Cherrington and Captain M. O. Brock, who were unable to be present.

Presents Check

Ross D. Rosenberger, chairman of the salvage committee of the Council of Defense, was introduced and spoke briefly of the work in gathering scrap here. He said that the money realized from scrap sales was to be used in service work in New Castle, and as an earnest of that plan presented Dr. Bennett with a check for $3,000 for use in starting the USO center.

P. J. Flaherty, first president of the USO, was introduced and expressed his pleasure at the co-operation which had marked the work of various groups. He commended Robert L. Meermans, general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., for his untiring work in service activities.

Dr. Bennett closed the exercises with a few remarks, the band played the Star Spangled Banner and Captain Carl Andreasen of the Salvation Army, who pronounced the benediction.

The USO center is now open for service. It is fitted to meet the need of service men and women, regardless of their home address. Plans are under way to provide every need, and within a short time the New Castle USO should be fully equipped.

dent, attacked the wage policies of the war labor board and its so called "Litlte Steel formula" holding wage increases to 15 per cent above January, 1941, levels. Lewis, who has frequently denounced the WLB as a "packed court," said that the "Little Steel formula" would prevent the WLB "from making a decision upon a basis of equity and justice" in considering the miners' demands for a $2 a day wage increase.

"No Comment"

Reporters pressed Lewis for an elaboration on the telegram but he said he had "no comment." It was typical that he replied to the President only by indirect statements. It forecast, too, that he would allow the miners to walk out at midnight without any formal strike call unless the White House gives him some assurance that he can get the agreement he wants.

Lewis later announced that he would attend the meeting later in the day between the anthracite operators and the miners.

With these developments, the threat of a coal strike became more real, it is now less than 12 hours until the strike deadline at midnight and only some 22 hours until President Roosevelt's deadline expires at 10 a. m. tomorrow. A coal strike would be certain to cripple vital war production within a few days.

Meeting Called

NEW YORK, April 30.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers Union, issued a call for a special meeting of his policy committee for today to proceed with plans for a nationwide walkout in soft coal mines at midnight tonight in defiance of President Roosevelt's ultimatum that all mines must be operating at 10 a. m. Saturday.

With the threat of martial law, violence and bloodshed hanging over the coal fields, it was possible that Lewis, in drafting the miners' reply to the President, would leave the door open to some compromise. But, barring a last-minute change in the strike-studded situation, most of the country's 1,500 bituminous coal mines were expected to be shut down at the zero hour of midnight.

Saturday Time Limit Set

President Roosevelt, in Washington, appealed to miners now engaging "in silent strikes" to return to work and he gave them until Saturday at 10 a. m., to get back on the job. His time limit was so dated, however, that it would apply not only to the 80,000 coal workers now idle but to every man in Lewis' union who participates in a general walkout tonight, if one occurs.

Lewis, after receiving the back-to-work ultimatum in a telegram from the nation's commander-in-chief, held a long, secret meeting with his chief advisers in a downtown hotel. It was decided at this conference to call the policy committee of the union into the special session today.

Awaiting the conference, the rank-and-file miners who compose the policy committee milled around the lobby of the hotel. They said privately that they were "all-out" for a general strike.

Their chief topic of discussion comprised speculation as to whether army troops already were on the move toward a march into the coal fields. Reports have circulated and charges have been made by U.M.W. spokesmen, that the G-2 (intelligence) of the army has been planning for months to seize the rich diggings of the bituminous coal industry.

Hard Coal Truce?

As the hopes dwindled to avert a walkout of the 450,000 soft coal miners in the U.M.W., it was possible that an eleventh hour truce would be worked out to forestall a strike of 90,000 other miners in the hard coal fields.

The contracts between the union and both the soft and hard coal mine operators expire at midnight, an hour now destined to go down in labor history as the minute of the showdown between President Roosevelt and the hard-fisted Lewis. Originally, the contract between soft coal operators and the U.M.W. ran out March 31, but, at the insistence of President Roosevelt, it was extended until April 30—midnight.

The fateful hour was now close. Mr. Roosevelt, in sending his back-to-work appeal to the miners, said that they must submit their demands for a $2-a-day wage increase, chief issue in the controversy, to the war labor board in Washington. Lewis consistently has defied the WLB and termed it a "packed court." And in fixing the Saturday deadline, Mr. Roosevelt stated:

"The enemy will not wait while strikes and stoppages run their course. Therefore, if work is not resumed by 10 o'clock Saturday morning, I shall use all the power vested in me as President and Commander-in-Chief of the Army and Navy to protect the national interest and to prevent further interference with the successful prosecution of the war."

Young People To Attend Meeting

There will be a group of young people from the local Salvation Army Corps leaving Saturday at 6 a. m. for Pittsburgh where they will take part at a two-day young people's council meeting, which will be led by the divisional commander, Brigadier Ralph Miller, assisted by Major John Grace and Major Charles McNally.

The guest speakers for these councils will include Commissioner and Mrs. Thomas Wilson, missionaries from China and Korea; Colonel Norman Marshall, chief secretary for the eastern territory of the United States, and Major William Trigg, assistant territorial young people's secretary.

"EATING" WATER

We 'eat" a lot of water. Half of every loaf of bread, two-thirds of every egg, 75 per cent of every potato and steak consists of water.

In preparing peaches do not pare first and then cut in half, but cut in half before paring, when the pit may be easily removed without breaking the peach.

advanced a point each to nine points per pound, and round top roast was advanced from seven to eight points a pound.

2. In veal, advances of a point were made in leg roast, round steak cutlets and sirloin steak or chops.

3. In pork, point values were raised a point each in center cut chops and loin roasts, while ham, shank end, was lowered a point.

4. In the fats and oils bracket, salad and cooking oils were reduced in point value from six to five.

5. In canned meats, point reductions were made in meat loaf, brains, bulk sausage and Vienna sausage.

6. In beef, veal, pork and lamb variety meats — brains, tongues, sweetbreads, livers, tails, snouts and chitterlings—reductions of one point were made.

7. Caviar and fish roe were reduced in value from seven to three points per pound. Salmon, sardines, tuna fish and other canned fish remained the same.

No Change In Cheese

The OPA made no change in the cheese grouping, although sales were slow in the early weeks of rationing. Officials expressed belief that pantry stocks of cheese now are about exhausted and the commodity will soon begin to move in more normal fashion.

Bouillon cubes, beef extract and all other meat extracts and concentrates, formerly listed as seven points per pound, were removed from the ration list.

On the new chart, heel of round and skirts were added to the list of beef items which may be ground into hamburger and sold at five points a pound. No change was made in the point price of hamburger, although OPA officials earlier expressed alarm at the rapid movement of the product.

In refusing to alter sausage point values, OPA officials asserted that the current "sausage problem" resulted from a temporary condition of over-production. Point values could not be reduced further without diverting excessive amounts of fresh cuts to sausage, it was said.

COUNTY BOND SALES COVER SEVEN MILLION

but on top of that it looks as though the county will be in line for a county honor pennant. A few hot licks between now and Saturday night and this pennant will get a good home in this county.

Many bond orders are still lying in the banks without having been paid for. The purchasers will undoubtedly pick them up but it is urged that they be picked up before Saturday at noon, in order to get credit in the present drive.

Take another look at the figures, neighbor. $7,086,000 worth of Axis busting bonds. Tomorrow the figure will be larger and Lawrence county will have completed another of its standout performances.

industrial city of Kharkov, the Germans attempted to force their way across a "water barrier", apparently the Donets river, but lost many dozens of men when the assault was repelled.

German units also became active on the central front west of Moscow when a reconnaissance detachment tried without success to penetrate Soviet positions. Here again they were repulsed with heavy losses. On one sector Soviet artillery batteries and machine gun units destroyed German positions and killed more than 200 Germans.

South of Byeli, northeast of the vital Nazi base of Smolensk, other red army artillery batteries destroyed 14 German blockhouses and smashed five artillery batteries. A company of German troops also was wiped out while Russian anti-aircraft guns shot down two German planes.

Soviet artillery also was exceedingly active on the northwest Volkhov front below Leningrad, the high command reported.

Heavy casualties were said to have been inflicted on German infantry on separated sectors of the Volkhov front.

PEDEN-THOMPSON WEDDING IN CHURCH

For the occasion, the church altar was beautifully decorated with an arrangement of white snapdragons and carnations, outlined against a background of ferns and palms.

In the presence of a throng of guests, the couple exchanged vows, with the Rev. Samuel Marshall of Natrone Heights, Pa., uncle of the bride, officiating, and Dr. R. M. Patterson, pastor of the church, assisting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attractive in poudre' blue summer wool suit with dusty rose accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of orchids. Attending her sister as maid of honor, Miss Margaret Peden chose a suit similar in color and style to that worn by the bride, with accompaniments in brown. Pink roses formed her shoulder bouquet.

Kenneth Dougherty served as best man, and ushering were Charles Grieder and Dan Bender.

Contributing further to the impressiveness of the informal service, Miss Helen Ewing, church organist, played a program of nuptial selections, choosing "The Wedding March" from Lohengrin to announce the approach of the bridal party.

A congratulatory period followed immediately afterwards in the church parlors, and a reception for relatives and close friends was held later at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left on a wedding trip to Detroit, and upon returning here will take up residence in their newly furnished apartment on West Grant street.

THE KISKA FRONT

NO DIFFICULTIES in fighting in the war surpass those which confront American fliers over Kiska, the Aleutian outpost where the Japanese are seeking a firmer toehold by constructing a landing field in the island's rocky terrain and by making other military installations.

In the last two months United States warplanes made more than one hundred attacks on the enemy in Kiska. Planes employed are Liberator heavy bombers, Mitchell light bombers, War Hawks and Lightnings.

Principal targets are the runways under construction and planes on the beach. Bombers blast away at the runways and fighter planes strafe the beached aircraft. The object is to prevent completion of the runways which would permit the Japs to use in defense of Kiska speedier fighter planes instead of the cumbersome float planes.

Difficulties of attacking Kiska are provided by the weather. Because of turbulent and cloudy conditions, daily assault is not possible. Favorable weather must be awaited and when it comes Yankee fliers throw everything they have into the job.

CANNING BEES

Community canning bees will be something new in the social life in many rural areas this year. Farm folk are familiar with quilting and sewing circles, home demonstrations and similar get-togethers, but none has ever heard of canning bees.

The increased emphasis upon canning of vegetables and fruits and the scarcity of pressure cookers give impetus to the canning bee movement. The federal government has allotted pressure cookers to the various states, making a certain number available to each county according to population.

Cookers will be sold to groups by the government. Individuals will not be permitted to buy them. The plan is for a group of women to organize a canning society with all members using the same pressure cooker. Experts in the operation of the pressure cooker in the canning of vegetables and fruits will be available through farm bureaus.

If Victory gardens produce as hoped for and canning bees spring up in every rural community, the food that will be produced and processed for winter use should be ample for all civilian needs.

NAZIS LEARN HARD WAY

The Allies have proved to their own satisfaction and at high cost to Hitler that transporting troops by huge planes in the face of enemy air superiority is costly. Hitler's attempts to fly reinforcements to his forces in North Africa across the narrows between Sicily, Sardinia and Tunisia resulted in scores of the transports being shot down by Allied fliers and the annihilation of thousands of Nazi soldiers.

The slow moving craft were unable to dodge the swift fighters and were blown to bits or shot down and sunk. The self-propelled air transports were a development of huge gliders Hitler used successfully in the invasion of Crete. But in that venture the Nazis did not meet stiff opposition in the air.

Some of the transports which tried to reach Tunisia were loaded with gasoline, indicating that the Nazis in Tunisia are hard-pressed for fuel. If the Hitler remnants still in North Africa are running short of ammunition too, the show-down cannot be far off.

The results of Hitler's attempts to reinforce his army in North Africa have convinced observers that similar methods will not be employed by the Allies in future fighting unless they have undisputed control of the air.

ARE WOMEN PRETTIER?

Warning of the war production board that the American output and use of cosmetics may be reduced to the "normal" level of 1939 implies that in recent years women have become abnormally interested in beautifying their appearance. It is said, indeed, that beauty aids are now selling more rapidly in the United States than before the war.

This ought to mean that women are now better looking than they used to be. It might mean that they are not, and are therefore under greater necessity to improve upon nature with dyes and bleaches, make-up and perfume.

A more charitable assumption is that the strains and duties of wartime require special consideration for a woman's complexion and appearance. Those who work in war plants must safeguard their beauty, if any, against dust and grime and the wrinkles that come of close attention to a difficult job.

No great hardship is threatened by the announcement of the WPB. It is only a short while since the "normal" cosmetic year of 1939, and it is not recalled that American women of the pre-war world, using a lot less cosmetics than now, were hard to look at.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

UNKNOWN RICH IN NATION

The war loan drive in northern Ohio received a single order for $21,000,000. The buyer, when finally revealed, proved to be practically unknown to his fellowtownsmen. Nor could the newspapers say much about him except that he had started life as a wheelsman on the Great Lakes, and had made money in Wall Street.

Andrew W. Mellon, former secretary of the treasury, and reputed to be the second richest man in the United States, was, when he accepted office, almost entirely unknown to Americans. When his name was first suggested to President Harding, who originally appointed him, the president had not heard of him, it is related.

There is still a good deal of unsuspected wealth in the United States.

Was there ever a dilemma like that in which Hitler's astrologer finds himself?

Hitler's huge new transport planes make a big splash as they sink in the Mediterranean.

Washington says General MacArthur will not retire when he reaches the age of sixty-four, which makes it unanimous.

The Japs, who a year ago were bragging they would "dictate peace terms in the White House," now scream what they will do to fliers who raid Tokyo.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TRAIN CHILD TO ENJOY FOODS

WHEN YOU introduce solid foods into the diet of your baby, you are beginning his education for eating what is set before him when he will be six, fourteen or fifty. The chief factor to be considered is gradual adaptation. Through it, strong food dislikes of any sort may be avoided; by it, too, any child or adult may learn to tolerate, even enjoy, practically any food eventually.

A good way is to introduce into the bottle of milk a very small amount of broth or juice of a vegetable you are about to give as solid food. When you thus put to the baby's lips a very tiny bit of spinach, mashed beet or carrot, it will not be nearly so strange to him. Even then the first application should be to put to the child's mouth, the spoon bathed in the juice, and a bit no bigger than a pea as the first morsel of solid food. It is the strangeness of the early experience with solid food that may call forth the baby's resistance.

Should your baby expel the first small morsel of solid food, push it back very gently just once, if at all. The average mother supposes she must force a total of a teaspoonful or more of solid food into the infant's tiny mouth. She should be happy if the little tyke enjoys as much after a month or so.

Feed Baby Gently

Many a baby who has enjoyed a certain food grows to hate it later because it has been given him so often and in such large quantities. I do wish the young mother would learn to feed the baby very gently and slowly.

Children over five or six tend to avoid foods unfamiliar to them and, after frequent, anger-charged exhortations over this food, may grow more sure they shall not like it. Calmly prevail on the child to taste it, taking as small amount of it as he likes.

Let the child over five or six know, eventually, that he shall eat a portion of every food served the family, provided, of course, all the adults do; but let him serve himself as little as he likes or have you do so. In case of a food already strongly objected to, it may be desirable to require him to eat this minute serving before he may have any other food. Treated so, the child will soon learn to tolerate, even enjoy, any food placed before him. See that no one, adult or child, shall make any remarks about food.

Hints On Feeding

Q. What about the overweight child who eats too much?

A. So far as possible, limit the amount of food he may have that is rich in fat, sugar and starches. Give him abundant fruits and vegetables, especially of such roughage as spinach, chard, raw cabbage and celery. Allow candy only at the end of the meal.

Q. How may a mother learn what are the proper foods for her baby and young child?

A. By consulting her doctor; also from reading pamphlets and bulletins made available from the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C.; and by studying courses in nutrition offered in her community, especially those being put on by the Red Cross.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Can one afford ever to make fun of a child's serious effort or remark?

A. No; whether he be three, ten or thirteen.

MOURNING DOVE

Again at dawn there comes the window through
A note of sadness, pitiful to hear,
As if the doves, like philomel, renew
The bitter memory of some tragic year.

"Crooah-croo-croo!" again we hear them sigh.
"Croah-croo-croo" sad, dolorous refrain
As if the doves remembered days gone by
Gray days of grief and loneliness and pain.

And yet what bird more fitted for this spring?
What cry more suited to these anxious hours?
The mourning dove that has no song to bring
Wails an old grief as if it knew of ours.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:52. Sun rises tomorrow 6:02.

Judging from what we read the Japs are going to get plenty for their dirty work against our soldiers. They cannot get too much rough stuff.

The best kind of surprises are the pleasant surprises. The other kinds are more plentiful now.

Already there are over 400 wounded and sick soldiers at the new hospital near Butler. Another serious thing to think about.

SUPERSTITION

We all have our pet superstitions ... most of which we acquired from ancestors of many past and forgotten generations.

As man climbs slowly upward, rung by rung, on the ladder of civilization, he slowly but surely learns the fallacy of all superstitions.

Superstitions are a sign of ignorance and an indication of gullibility.

You are not really educated, not really cultured, not really above the average mentality until you have discarded all the superstitions you have acquired along the way.

Take a few minutes when you are alone and write down all of the pet superstitions that—whether you realize it or not—work as a handicap and retard your progress. Then think about them one by one and realize how foolish and ridiculous they are.

If you will do this, if you will toss out the superstitions that clutter up your positive and your subconscious mind, you'll be doing yourself and mankind a real service.

Most any person will try to answer reasonable questions. There are so many questions that are not reasonable.

If you believe in the old adage that the good die young, then you must nurse a secret feeling that the old boys who boast of their longevity are just plain liars.

The larger the committee the more different opinions there are.

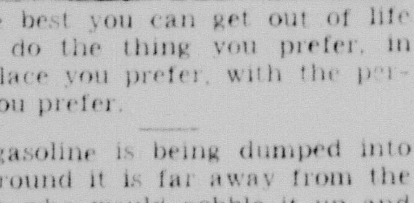
In spite of MPC edicts, competition still makes easy jobs hard to find.

A lot of people would save their shoes more if they did not walk like a horse. A horse has to have shoes to be able to walk.



The best you can get out of life is to do the thing you prefer, in the place you prefer, with the person you prefer.

If gasoline is being dumped into the ground it is far away from the people who would gobble it up and save it.

The fellow who is always in a hurry is nearly always late.

Even the Officer of the Day who had reviewed many cases of infractions of company rules was surprised when he read the complaint No. XY 6743, then, facing the rookie said: "This order says you have a barrel of beer in your quarters."

"Doctor's orders, Sir," replied the rookie. "He said if I drank a lot of beer I'd get my strength back."

"H-mm, and did you?" asked the O. D. sarcastically.

"Sure, Sir. When that barrel came in, I could hardly move it to police my quarters, but now I can roll it all around the barracks."

Quoting authorities may back up your argument but it also shows who makes your opinions for you.

It's getting so that a man can make so much money that he will not have enough to pay his income taxes.

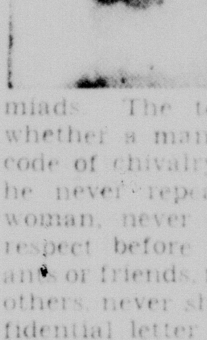
IS THE ERA OF CHIVALRY OVER?

"A cynical friend of mine argues with me that the era of chivalry is over. What is the test?—Dorothea.



Answer: Of course as the years have gone by, more and more men not born to chivalry get into so-called "society" because of business or political influence and the fact that the proportion of boors in social circles has thus increased has caused our elders to increase their jeremiads. The test, I would say, is whether a man observes the golden code of chivalry. According to this, he never repeats scandal about a woman, never treats her with disrespect before their children, servants or friends, never criticises her to others, never shows to others a confidential letter written to him by a woman, never discusses his woman friends in his clubs, never admits any intimacies he has had with the fair sex. No matter how unhappily he is married, he never employs publicity to divorce his wife but arranges for her to gain her freedom on other than criminal grounds. He never borrows money from a woman.

Question: We have a country place far from the city shops. A city cousin visiting us states that it is in bad taste for us to fill our vases with wild flowers while we are entertaining—that we should send to the city for hot house flowers. How about it?

Answer: Your cousin is wrong. It is now appropriate for a country house to display fresh wild flowers from its adjacent woods and fields than the wares of city florists—provided, of course, your wild flowers are rich in color and scent.

Question: What does it mean when an invitation to a wedding reception says reception "afterwards"?—N.

Answer: It means that you go from the church immediately to the reception.

Jap Murdering Of Flyers Matter Of Brag
Atrocious Slayings Will Prove Boomerang
U. S. Born Japs Certain Nippon Can't Win

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

Japan's murder of an (as yet) unannounced number of members of the Doolittle flying corps, after their capture by the islanders about a year ago, naturally was not intended as an urgent summons from Nippon, to the United States to speed up the American effort to smash the mikado's empire flat.

Nevertheless, that is the effect which the Tokyo atrocity seems to have had.

The tendency in Washington, hitherto, certainly has been to regard the trans-Pacific campaign as secondary to warfare to the eastward (reckoning as per our Yankee geography.)

The Doolittle incident has pretty well disposed of this notion.

Numerically, it was only a comparatively small homicidal crime, but it was a particularly atrocious one. Jap admission of it probably was an annoyance to British Prime Minister Churchill, since he evidently wants this country to concentrate against the European Axis powers, in England's more immediate neighborhood, than to be distracted in the Asiatic direction.

It is not likely that the Japs had any thought of his convenience in switching American sentiment (anti, of course) so immediately and violently their way.

Undoubtedly, the Tokyo broadcast was a matter of brag—characteristically Jap. It is a poor guess that the islanders believed they could intimidate Uncle Sam. Yet they may have thought they could delay him for awhile, in the interest of gaining time.

It was poor reasoning, but there is no knowing how the Jap mind works.

My own theory (I still stand pat on it) is that the average Jap will no more butcher a foreign war prisoner than we will; it is his militarists who would do it.

I lived in Japan for a time some years ago.

I did not have occasion then to clash with the militarists. Contrariwise, as a news correspondent, I got on with them very well. And with their diplomats and journalists I was on the friendliest terms.

But I knew then that the militarists were cannibals and so did their own civiliandom.

We talked about it between ourselves. They told me what was the matter with their local military class.

Years ago I was well acquainted with K. K. Kawakami, a Japanese news correspondent in San Francisco and throughout the United States. I think that that guy was thoroughly assimilated here. He married an American. He had a son—Clarke Kawakami. Clarke was, and is, an American citizen by birth and, one-half by partage. He is as pro-American as anyone I know, dating back to the Revolution. I know him intimately.

However, only a small fraction of 1 per cent of American-born Japs (whether born on our Pacific coastal mainland or in Hawaii) are of mixed parentage.

Nevertheless, counting the entire total of them, they are not so crazy as to think Nippon ever could annex California and I do not believe they would favor it, either. Very few of them ever have visited their ancestral home land. I have heard from some of them that they try to pass themselves off here as Chinese or Filipinos. And not for the purposes of espionage, but because they genuinely want to class as American eligibles.

Born Japs (even decent ones, who have stayed there) probably do not realize how hopelessly their nation is bound to be outclassed in the long run. Yet they, themselves, do not favor deliberate murder, either morally or as sound policy.

The militarists are different. They are liable to be convinced (they are that insane) that they can gobble everything in sight, and to be perfectly willing to do it by massacre or in any other way.

To say, though, that a Jap is "always a Jap" meaning a MILITARY Jap, is to do many of them an injustice. He may be an ENEMY Jap whom it is necessary to exterminate, but it does not follow that it is not a pity to have to kill him.

One Man's Opinion

A fellow with an "A" gas book on the east coast is as lucky as a bartender with two tickets to a prohibition rally.

He is entitled to have the interior of his tank sprayed with a thin mist of gasoline whenever he can find any.

Naturally he can't find any.

The situation was critical until that fine big new pipeline was opened. Now it is critical.

He has two choices open to him. He can leave his car in the garage or he can leave his car outside the garage.

The treasury department sells him a five dollar stamp and says he can use his car. The OPA smiles softly and says "try and do it."

When he says "I'm confused ... do you want me to keep my car, sell it or put it up and forget about it?" All Washington rocks with merry laughter. They're confused too.

Thought for the day: Keep 'em deteriorating.

The final test of a sense of honor is the obligation you feel to keep your word even when it is given to a crook.

The World and the Mud Puddles

NOW AND THEN

War in Africa is nothing new to the people who have lived on the Mediterranean-African shore. I wonder if the Italian soldiers who seem to be fighting half-heartedly today in that strip of African soil which knew long ago the tramp of Roman Legions, ever think of how their forebears fought in the Punic Wars. There were three of these so-called Punic Wars which Rome waged against Carthage for Carthage was always a thorn in the flesh to the Romans. It was a nation just across the Mediterranean from the toe of the boot and Sicily that had been founded by the Phoenicians who were the great traders of the world before the days of Augustus Caesar. They not only traded in the Mediterranean, but they are also said to have even traded with the peoples then living in the British Isles and the Norwegians, and even to have sailed around the Cape of Good Hope and traded with the East Indies. The Romans were very jealous of the Phoenicians and of the great Empire of Carthage. The Carthaginians were real fighters, too. There were Hasdrubel, Hamilcar and his great son, Hannibal, who directed the military campaigns of Carthage.

It was Hannibal that led the great expedition that crossed over into Spain with his elephants and his camels and his horses and who took that army and all of its equipment through Spain, over the Pyrenees, through France, then known as Gaul, over the Alps and into Italy, down to the gates of Rome and there, with the whole world in his fist, it is said he fell for a clever Roman woman and he and his army were eventually defeated, Hannibal himself escaping across the Mediterranean to Carthage.

All of this time the cry went up in Rome, "Carthage delenda est"—"Carthage must be destroyed" and eventually it was.

Now the site of the Capital City of the Carthage nation was known to the ancients as the City of

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

At 8 o'clock every week-day morning, 84-year-old Frederick Atkins comes to his office in New York and stays until 6 p. m., busy as a bee, full of pep and vigor.

He is a millionaire, but there's nothing fancy about Mr. Atkins.

He can't understand why business men have to put on such airs with secretaries and receptionists and push-buttons and half-day-Saturdays and all that.

"I startde to work when I was thirteen," he said, "for a dollar week. I got to work at 6:30 a. m. and if I got through at 9 p. m. I thought I was a very lucky boy."

That was back in the 1870's. He used to stoke the stove and wash the windows and sweep the floors. That done he had to show alpaca and brilliantine to hoopskirted customers. And when the day was done he had to clean up and close up, eat his supper, go to bed and snatch a few hours sleep.

Sometimes when you hear people talk about the good old days, think of Mr. Atkins. And think of your own grandfather—or even your dad, who probably worked twice as hard as you for half the money that you are kicking about.

Good old days, my eye!

The best days are the days in which we live.

The only better days are those still to come.

Most of us couldn't stand the hardships of the "good old days."

We, with our steam-heat and radios and automobiles and hot-and-cold running water and electric buttons and push buttons.

We, who complain when the telephone is out of order or the grocer is a few minutes late with his deliveries.

One useful thing about this war is that it gives us a very small taste of what the good old days were like.

With all our rationing, all our suffering (don't make me laugh) we are still infinitely better off than our ancestors were.

I, for one, am tickled pink that I am living in the good new days!

Hints On Etiquette

It is a good idea to have your children meet your callers. It teaches them to meet people easily and courteously, but don't expect them to sit quietly while you talk. Let them go on with their own affairs.

Grangers Of Big Beaver Observe 30th Anniversary

Speeches By Past Masters Feature Celebration Program Tuesday Evening

Another red-letter night in the history of Big Beaver Grange took place Tuesday evening when the thirtieth anniversary of the organization of Big Beaver Grange, No. 1,578 P. of H., was celebrated with an appropriate program presented and arranged by the lecturer, Miss Marie Beatty.

The program opened with the singing of "Faith of Our Fathers", and a prayer by A. W. Leslie, chaplain and past master. Recognition of past masters by the present master, John Scott, followed. As the names were read, Chester Stewart, overseer, presented each with a pin. W. T. Jenkins and John W. Bronson each gave a talk on the beginnings of the grange organization.

Charter members were then recognized by W. W. Walker; each received a pin, and made a few remarks. "The Grange of the Future" was the subject of a talk by William H. McCullough, who is present Pomona master. A letter from Norman P. McHattie, past master, who is in Florida, was read to the grange.

"Patriotism in the Grange", by Frank W. Jenkins, veteran of the first World war, stressed the need for buying war bonds.

Father And Son Masters

The lecturer made mention of the group of father and son past masters. They include: W. T. Jenkins and Frank Jenkins; A. W. Leslie and Chester Leslie; and W. A. Scott and John Scott.

H. A. Leslie gave a humorous reading, "Never Talk Back"; James Beatty entertained with an original reading; Joseph Wilson spoke on the effect of the depression on the grange; J. Dale McHattie, master in 1933, spoke on "The Grange's Views on the Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment"; Clifford Douthitt spoke on "Ritualistic Work in the Grange".

Next speakers were W. G. Shannon, Aubrey Reno and R. S. McAnlis, who also recognized the silver star members, each of whom received the award, from Assistant Steward Wayne McAnlis and Lady Assistant Steward Florence Walker.

Deceased Members Honored

-otatYd!lr cilcakHo-AE T E 8 77

At this time there was a period of silence as "Taps" was sounded on the trumpet by Chester Stewart, in memory of all deceased masters, charter members, silver star members and all departed grangers. Rev. W. W. Willis offered a memorial prayer.

W. A. Scott, Charles Stewart, Francis McChesney and Chester Leslie each spoke briefly. The program ended with the singing of "God Be With You".

David F. Kyle was a guest at the meeting. He spoke briefly, as a member of North Beaver Grange and a past master of Pomona Grange.

A social period followed, during which refreshments were served.

Carthage and it occupied about the same site as the present city of Tunis. After its destruction by the Romans, at a time following the life of Mohammed, the Arabs of the desert becoming fanatic followers of the Mohammedan religion, swept across North Africa destroying or enslaving all peoples who were not Mohammedans, even entering Spain and dominating that peninsula until eventually driven out by the Spaniards who were the fiercest of all the defenders of the Roman Catholic Church.

There has been no end of romance connected with the north shore of Africa. It will be remembered that Virgil recounted the shipwreck of Aeneas on his return from the Seige of Troy, and there at Carthage had his affair with Queen Dido. It will also be remembered that at Bone, not far from the present city of Tunis, on a mountain side may be found the tomb of Saint Augustine, that Bishop of the Roman Church who is responsible for the Doctrine of Original Sin, and between Bone and Tunis in the town of Timgad may be found the ruins of an ancient Roman city with its Forum and Theater.

It is probable that the majority of the soldiers of our army do not know the historic past of Northern Africa. The marines have had it properly drilled into them the story of how the marines assisted in driving the Barbary Pirates out of Algiers, for their song recounts their prowess in Africa.

It is also perhaps a little difficult to understand why the Italian soldiery seem to be so indifferent to holding on at least to that particular strip where their forebearers fought so desperately two thousand years ago.

Napolean realized how he could inflame his army with a real fighting spirit when he exclaimed before his great Battle of the Pyramids in Egypt—"Forty centuries are looking down on what you do this day!"

To Ration Travel Unless Voluntary Adjustment Made

Eastman Estimates 25 Per Cent Of Rail Travel Unnecessary, Must Be Ended

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 30.—A "rigid system of rationing travel" will be clamped down upon the American public unless there is a voluntary adjustment of travel habits to meet wartime conditions, Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman warned.

Expressing hope that a national educational campaign will cut down the present 25 per cent of rail movements regarded as unnecessary, Eastman emphasized to the war council of the United States Chamber of Commerce that the situation "promise to become steadily worse".

Asserting that the most severe transportation problem is in the movement of people—including war workers—rather than the handling of freight, Eastman said:

"There are only two ways of curing the transportation situation. One is a rigid system of rationing travel. The other is voluntary renunciation of unnecessary travel on the part of the public and the adjustment of its travel habits to war necessities.

"We have ample reason to fear that the first of these cures would be worse than the disease. We regard it as a last and desperate resort. We are promoting the second cure in a publicity campaign which will be intensified progressively in coming weeks."

Vice-chairman William L. Batt of the War Labor board told how efficient manufacturing methods had cut the cost of war material since Pearl Harbor. For example, he said, a .45 calibre sub-machine gun costing $445 each in 1940 now is built for $21.

Mystery Shrouds Death Of Couple

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 30.—Mystery today continued to shroud the deaths of Beatrice Willard, pretty 20-year-old war worker, and John C. Rose, elderly book publisher, whose nude bodies were discovered side by side yesterday at the Willard Mt. Washington home.

The presence of two bottles containing sulphuric acid near the bodies in Rose's bedroom led police to believe the pair had died in a suicide pact decided upon when the girl's parents ordered the 63-year-old publisher to give up his lodgings in the house.

A coroner's report, however, indicated Miss Willard and Rose had died of acute inflammations of the stomach, although the acid was not taken internally.

The bodies were discovered by Hess Willard, the young girl's father, who was said to have objected to Rose's attentions toward his daughter.

Employment Office Seeks Job Trainees

Women Urged To Register For Training For Jobs In Local War Production Work

Local employers engaged in war production work have indicated to the New Castle office of the United States Employment Service of the War Manpower Commission that they will soon have several hundred openings for both women and men, George Walter, office manager, stated today.

To be eligible for these jobs, both men and women must be qualified either by experience or training.

Training classes will be conducted in New Castle and the need is for women, or men who are not eligible for the draft, to apply for training immediately at the USES office, Mr. Walter said.

Only applicants sent from the employment office will be considered for the openings, and Mr. Walter expressed confidence that those who apply now and complete training can be placed immediately.

He said that it is necessary to have these trainees immediately and that both the office and employers are anxious to use women from the New Castle area if they avail themselves of the opportunity for employment rather than find it necessary to bring in trainees from other areas.

"They have left a priceless heritage which we must hold sacred and guard."

VICTORY GARDEN NOTES

(By LEWIS C. DAYTON)
(County Farm Agent)

TOMATOES

The tomato is our best substitute for the citrus fruits, oranges and grapefruit, as a source of vitamin C and should be grown whenever possible. It is important that gardens produce not only sufficient tomatoes for fresh use during a 2-month period but also enough so that many quarts may be canned for winter.

Since the tomato is very sensitive to freezing, the plants should not be sent into the garden until all danger of frost is over. In southern Pennsylvania this may mean May 10 to 15, in the central part of the state May 20 to 26, and in the northern part, planting out-of-doors is not safe until after June 1.

The tomato does best on a fertile soil. Superphosphate is one of the most important fertilizer materials for the soil if this crop is grown, although if no manure is used, a complete fertilizer should be used at the rate of about 30 pounds per 1,000 square feet.

Staked tomatoes usually are set 2 feet apart in rows 3 or 4 feet apart, depending on the method of cultivation. Unstaked tomatoes should be set about 4 by 4 feet. Staking is desirable if space is limited. The plants are trained up on stakes about 4 to 5 feet high. This requires timely pruning and tying. Pruning simply consists of cutting or pinching out all branches but those desired for leaders or main stalks. Single stem pruning is practiced most commonly. Any soft cord may be used for tying. Besides requiring much less space, staked tomatoes produce a better crop from the standpoint of color and freedom from disease. Among the good varieties, Stokesdale is good for early crop and Marglobe and Rutgers are excellent for late crop and canning.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER
City Health Superintendent

ITIS

This is a made up ending for parts of the body. The doctors fixed it up. It means inflammation. It is pronounced either eat-is or eye-tis.

If the appendix is inflamed, it is called appendicitis. If the iris is inflamed it is called iritis.

The doctors like to use Latin and Greek names for things. They seldom use the English name.

For instance stoma means mouth. Stomatitis means inflammation of the mouth. Glossa means tongue. Glossitis means inflammation of the tongue.

Derma means skin. Dermatitis means inflammation of the skin. Ask your Greek friends. They know all these names.

If the skin gets red and hot and puffy, the condition is called dermatitis. Maybe poison ivy did it. Maybe it is a burn. Perhaps it is erysipelas. Anyhow if the skin is inflamed it is called dermatitis.

Now you know all about it.

Record Food Crop Predicted, 'With Average Weather'

Largest Supply In History, Says Food Chief Davis, According To Plans

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 30.—War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis predicted that "with average weather or better" United States farmers this year "will top the 1942 production figures" for food.

Declaring that last year's production was an all-time high, Davis, in an address read to the United States Chamber of Commerce War council by Deputy Administrator William Byrd, added:

"We'll have the largest supply in our history to divide up among the various claimants."

Davis' talk came after Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the U. S. Maritime commission, reported that nearly 19,000,000 deadweight tons of dry cargo vessels and tankers will be constructed in American yards this year as compared with the more than 3,000,000 in 1942.

The food chief emphasized, however, that the United States faces the biggest demand for its food products in history—from lend-lease, the armed forces and the civilian population. Production, he added, is not enough to satisfy this demand.

Farmers, Davis said, are planting every available acre despite shortages of manpower and machinery and added:

"We can do this job only if we will get the cards on the table and settle our differences in a spirit of tolerance and good humor."

Strike Is Ended At Cleveland, O.

CLEVELAND, April 30 — Striking members of the AFL Street Car and Motorcoach Operators Union voted late Thursday to end a paralyzing 17-hour walkout on Cleveland's municipal transportation system and return immediately to their jobs.

The voice vote came at a noisy two-hour meeting attended by an estimated 1,200 strikers. Observers reported the shouted ballot was nearly unanimous.

The strike forced an estimated 400,000 Clevelanders to find other means of reaching work and their homes.

Negotiations will be resumed.

County Historical Society To Meet

Annual Business Meeting Is Scheduled For Tuesday Night At High School Building

Annual business meeting of the Lawrence County Historical society will be held in the senior high school building on Tuesday night, May 4, at 8 o'clock.

The Historical society is a chartered organization and a useful activity of the public spirited citizens of any community. The record of those who had an important part in this development should be recorded for future generations. At the regular meetings held during the year entertaining and instructive addresses are given by speakers provided for the occasion. Ensign Kohn Tells Of Experiences In Guadalcanal Area

New Castle Youth Saw Much Service At Scene Of Pacific Action

Ensign Arthur Kohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Kohn who was in New Castle for a short visit, related a few highlights of his experiences while serving in the U. S. Navy in the Solomons.

Ensign Kohn and his outfit of men were the first to arrive on the Solomons, after the Marines landed, their specific duty being that cutting and making air fields.

The use of knives and their value to the armed forces, was strongly emphasized by Ensign Kohn, who made a plea for everyone to turn over all kinds of knives to Uncle Sam." These weapons are priceless in the jungles, and on many other assignments," he stated.

Before leaving, Ensign Kohn and his men were highly commended by the U. S. Marines, as invaluable to the fliers and the Marines, for the job they succeeded in doing. Many hardships were encountered during this period. 'Our boys have what it takes, and they can produce if you give them the equipment" he related.

Ensign Kohn like others, had a number of "close calls" in action. He told realistically the feeling one has when a bomb drops ten feet from you, which he experienced, and too, the same feeling creeps over one when bombs hit the earth 25 to 50 feet away; and this happened frequently. Vivid in his memory, was the night he had to go out onto the field in a Jeep to pick up equipment which had been left behind. When scarcely off the field, a Jap army of 5000 attacked and marched over the very area he had just covered. He stated "the report of gunfire was terrific." You cant imagine the sensation caused by such a tense moment as this."

Speaking of natives, Ensign Kohn cited the habits of different natives, and stated that some tribes are very intelligent." Several of the tribe men have been trained as Marines and have proven most valuable," he quoted.

Ensign Kohn's arrival in New Castle was a total surprise to his family and friends, and during his brief stay, he had the pleasure of visiting with may who called at his residence.

Ensign Kohn who received his commission last April, enlisted almost immediately following the attack on Pearl Harbor. His job has been laying of steel at Henderson Field. He returned to York, Pa., with his wife who was visiting here, and from there Ensign Kohn returned to his military duties.

Two Axis Supply Ships Set Afire

Northbound Axis Convoy Is Attacked Off Coast Of Holland

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 30—Two Axis supply vessels and a minesweeper were set afire and several escort vessels damaged last night when British Beaufighters of the R. A. F. coastal command attacked a north-bound convoy off the coast of Holland, the air ministry announced today.

The beaufighters were accompanied by an escort of Spitfires and Mustangs.

Two large supply vessels were set aflame when struck by aerial torpedoes and the minesweeper was put on fire by blasts from cannon and machineguns.

"Several of the escorting vessels were seen to have been damaged," said the communique.

One Beaufighter was lost in the attack. A small patrol vessel was destroyed in an earlier attack by Whirlwind bombers.

Fighter sweeps late yesterday by United States and Royal Air Force planes across the North Sea and against objectives in Northern France, Holland and Belgium also were announced.

Mustangs were credited with destroying a Nazi bomber over the North Sea. Two American fighters were reported missing.

Last Day To Make Operation Reports

April 30 is the last day for operators of three or more commercial vehicles—trucks, taxicabs, buses, etc., to turn in operation reports for the first calendar quarter, Harry G. Boyd, District Manager of the Office of Defense Transportation pointed out today.

Reports should be made on forms prescribed by the ODT. These forms were mailed to all fleet operators at the time the Certificates of War Necessity were mailed last Fall.

Operators in the Youngstown area who failed to receive their forms or lost them, may obtain additional copies from the Office of Defense Transportation, 907 Union National Bank Bldg., Youngstown, Ohio.

GIVE CORRESPONDENCE COURSE IN CITIZENSHIP

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 30.—Citizenship training is now available on a state-wide basis. The Pennsylvania State college has added this new course to the 66 other high school directed courses being offered currently by the college's central extension correspondence division.

Merl R. Young, in charge of these courses, said the new course in citizenship training had been requested by the state department of public instruction as a means of continuing the training previously offered under the auspices of the works progress administration.

High schools with a small faculty who find themselves unable to offer extra courses because of the teacher shortage are turning to the correspondence courses given by Penn State as one way to solve their personnel problems.

SEEKS ACTION TO BACK PRESIDENT

Texas Senator Urges Speedy Action On Plant Seizure Measure

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Sen. Tom Connally (D) Texas, today launched a drive for passage of his plant seizure bill on Monday as a ringing congressional declaration of backing for President Roosevelt in the dispute over the threatened general coal strike.

With the bill the first order of business on Monday, Connally said that he will press for quick passage despite objections raised to his measure.

"I believe that passage of the bill would give great encouragement to miners to loyally remain at work," said Connally.

The measure, which authorizes the president to take over factories and mines in cases of strikes, also "freezes" labor relations during the period of government control and creates a special wage board.

Connally indicated that he may move to amend the bill to give the War Labor Board jurisdiction, rather than to create a new board.

While Mr. Roosevelt has seized plants under his general war authority, Connally maintained that passage of the measure would broaden his power.

Sen. Robert A. Taft (R) Ohio, objected to consideration of the bill as a means of meeting issues involved in the coal dispute.

High School GACCS Practice For Review

Three Platoons Drill In Preparation For Public Review On May 13

Girls Athletic club drill company of the senior high school had its first outdoor practice Thursday evening in the yard of the school before darkness fell when they went indoors to the gymnasium. This was also the first full practice of all three platoons since the girls got their navy and white jumper uniforms. With only one or two exceptions all of the company were "present and accounted for". A number of spectators were present.

Its arms swinging, the company marched snappily and executed manual of arms commands and the silent manual of arms under the supervision of Miss Margaret Fischer, girls athletic director and commanding officer of the company, and Sergeant Michael Shea, of the U. S. Marine Corps, who has been putting in a lot of work with the girls during the past weeks.

They have given a lot of time to practice within the past few weeks preparing for a public formal review on May 13. This evening platoons 2 and 3 will make a public appearance at the Scottish Rite Cathedral for the Legion of Honor.

With the treasury of the G. A. C. scratching bottom after the purchase of realistic wooden guns for drill purposes, the GACC's have set their hearts on getting navy crew hats and short white gloves to complete their costumes. If anyone knows an 'angel' or feels like being one, please notify First Lieutenant Joyce Alexander, Second Lieutenant Mary Louise Cleland, or Second Lieutenant Helen Kienast.

BOY INJURES KNEE

Irving Webber, of 308 Locust street, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital at 7:40 o'clock Thursday evening, for a laceration of the right knee, sustained when he tripped and fell while playing.

The boys in service in Georgia call the Georgia mosquito "stukas."

Soldier-Cinderella Goes From K. P. To Non-Com Post

(International News Service)

ELLINGTON FIELD, Tex. — A soldier-Cinderella is Staff Sergeant Antonio G. (Jimmy) Jimenez, Jr., of Ellington Field.

Only Jimmy's fairy godmother rescued him from the kitchen much more quickly than the one in the fairy story. It all began with Sgt. Jiminez came to Ellington Field as an eight-day old rookie and was permanently assigned to kitchen police.

For a week Jimmy attended his duties around the kitchen and served tables in the mess hall. Then one day the Las Cruces, N. M., lad was serving two officers and heard them talking in Spanish. When one of them asked him a question, he promptly answered in Spanish. It was an easy thing for the Sergeant, who before entering the army was a third-year modern language student at the University of Mexico.

One of the officers, a lieutenant colonel, questioned Jimmy on his educational background, interests and especially his ability to speak other languages. Three days later he was ordered to report to the post school as a Spanish tutor.

So in one week, Jiminez was out of the kitchen and tutoring the commanding officer was his first assignment. Sgt. Jiminez, who can also speak Portugese and a little French, is now non-com in charge of the post school system.

PERFECT 54, AND 39 SHE BRINGS $300

(International News Service)

CANTON, O.—She's a perfect 54 and only 39 years old, and before railway brethren would see her go to scrap they decided to take up a collection to see if they could manage to retain her. So they paid $300 for No. 21.

No. 21 is a 54-passenger, interurban electric railway car. A metal company was in the market for No. 21 for salvage, but the Eastern Ohio chapter of the National Railway Historical Society were reluctant to see the car in the hands of scrapping machines. Now they are offering No. 21 to any electric railroad in need of her services for the duration.

Refugee Now Holds Army Commission

(International News Service)

CAMP STEWART Ga., April 30—A 21-year-old countryless exile fleeing the Nazi terror in 1936, Ernest O. Kahn now holds a liuetenant's commission in the United State Army, his citizenship in this country, he has married an American wife, and his entire family has escaped to America.

Recently selected by a Camp Stewart board for Quartermaster Officer Candidate school, Kahn had been forced off his college soccer team at Bamberg, Germany, because he was Jewish. Heartbroken over the Nazi treatment he decided to come to America where the Army mended his broken heart, he said.

"Now I am very happy at this greater chance to fight against the Nazis and for America. All the family has applied for citizenshp; we are so happy and proud," he declared.

His father, Otto Kahn, who fought for Germany in World War I, spent several months in a Nazi concentration camp near Munich after the famed Com Rath Assassination program. But he and Kahn's mother escaped to America in 1939. Kahn's brother and sister had come over in 1937.

90-YEAR-OLD SMITH STILL AT HIS ANVIL

(International News Service)

FREMONT, O.—This is the fourth war for 90-year-old John Homan, the city's only blacksmith, still at his anvil after 74 years of service.

Mr. Homan, who plays a sharp game of pinochle, uses glasses at his work, but does not need them otherwise.

A widower for eight years, the blacksmith does his own housework and tends his own garden. When his turn comes to entertain his pinochle club, he sets a neat refreshment table.

It takes 60 years for an alligator to become full grown.

WAR PLANT POLICED BY WOMEN'S CORPS

(International News Service)

CANTON, O.—Women behind the guns are getting to be a common sight in some production companies now, due to the year-old story of shortage of manpower.

An example of this wartime situation is at the Timken Roller Bearing Co., which has women in training for policewomen, learning practically all the duties of the regular police force, including gate guarding and patrol duty.

Organized three months ago, the women's corps uses 38 calibers revolvers, and veteran members of the men's force, who are training them, vouch for their rapid improvement on the shooting range. Although their exact target scores are a military secret, Lieut. Paul Randle of the Timken force, says, "It won't be long before all their shooting scores will be right up near the top."

Study, Be Honest, Marine Tells Boy

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — Corp. Carlton Naugle, 21-year-old paramarine from Philadelphia, took time out between battles on Guadalcanal recently to write to his 10-year-old brother, Jack.

"Take your schooling seriously, because in the future anyone without schooling will be lost," he wrote.

"Think of others, and always consider their feelings before you speak. Be honest and fair in your dealings, but don't think everyone else will be the same toward you. They won't.

"Read a lot, but select your literature with care, as you would your friends, because books are your friends. Write when you are in school. Learn to express yourself in clear, concise English; you may have to do so some day.

"Take up Spanish in high school. It's a coming language and it will be to your advantage to know it.

"All these things I tell you so that you may avoid a lot of grief in later years. I want you to realize that I am interested in your career. No matter where I am or what I'm doing, I will be keeping track of you and what you're doing."

PRICE ADMINISTRATOR 'IN DUTCH' WITH WIFE

DALLAS, Tex.—Take it from Max McCullough, OPA administrator, it "ain't so funny."

McCullough's wife told him recently that she planned to buy a new pair of red shoes. But McCullough kept the date of shoe rationing a secret from his own household, and too, he purposely didn't tell the "Mrs." because "I didn't want the wife of OPA official to be wearing a new pair of shoes a week before shoe rationing."

When one of his aides remarked that that was a funny story, McCullough, trying to smile said, "I'm not so sure it is."

General Business Here 12 Per Cent Above March 1942

Survey Shows Business In All Industrial Areas Of State Increases In Year

General business conditions in March in New Castle averaged 12 per cent higher than a year ago, according to the monthly business survey of the Pennsylvania State college, received here today. The average increase for all leading industrial areas of the state was 20 per cent.

This is the first time in some months that all areas have showed gains over the same month of the previous year. The greatest improvement during the year was shown at Wilkes-Barre, which made a gain of 29 per cent, and at Williamsport, with a gain of 28 per cent.

Business also made a strong improvement from February to March after seasonal adjustment with the exception of retailing, the report states. Gains were shown in both manufacturing and mining, and general business in leading cities during March was over 3 per cent higher than in February. From February to March business rose in 14 out of the 18 areas examined.

Gains other than general business from February to March were noted in both anthracite and bituminous coal, bank debits, Allegheny carloadings, factory employment and payrolls, industrial power sales and industrial activity, and in life insurance sales. A decline from February to March occurred in building contracts, crude petroleum, department store sales, postal receipts, and newspaper advertising.

New Flourescent Material Gives Off Warm Light

Glass Specialist Discovers Improvement Over Glaring Blue-White Color

(Special To The News)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 30—A new fluorescent material which gives off a warm yellow light when exposed to ultra-violet rays instead of the glaring white or bluish-white color characteristic of present-day fluorescent lighting has been discovered by Dr. W. A. Weyl, professor of glass technology in the ceramics department at the Pennsylvania State college.

The new fluorescent is expected to have wide application in the modern illumination of homes, stores, factories and theaters. The new material not only produces light of a radically new color, but it also retains, unlike previous fluorescents, the power to emit light even if the material contains impurities in the form of iron or nickel. Also, the substance glows without the addition to its composition of an activating agent like manganese, a necessary element in present fluorescents.

These new properties simplify and make more economical the manufacture of the new fluorescent in comparison with those previously discovered, it was stated. A laboratory development, it is not yet available to the public.

The discovery came about as a result of research by Dr. Weyl in co-operation with the American Optical company.

FRATERNITY SELLS UNUSED TOMBSTONE

(International News Service)

LEWISBURG, Pa., April 30—Auction-goers at Bucknell University were puzzled when the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, forced to close because of the loss of more than two-thirds of its members to the services, put up for sale one unused tombstone, along with kitchenware, furniture and athletic equipment.

The brothers explained that when the fraternity's pet dog was killed recently a sympathetic alumnus donated a handsome memorial for the pooch.

But the sale came along before the memorial could be erected. Fido's tombstone went for $1.25.

Makes Dolls From Apples, Bottles

Erie Woman Moulds Images Of Old Ladies From Dried Apples, As Hobby

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., April 30—When Mrs. Johanna Clabbers buys apples, she doesn't buy them for cooking. She uses them to make apple-bottle dolls as clever images of old ladies. Along with knitting and sewing, making apple dolls has been her hobby for about six years.

Mrs. Clabbers picks out the largest and hardest apples for her work, pares them, dries them, and when they reach the right stage of dryness, she begins the moulding process. She forms the eyes, forehead, nose, mouth, and chin features with her fingers and makes wrinkles in the face which turns out be an image of a ninety-year-old.

A glass bottle, which makes the doll stand upright, forms the body, and the arms are covered with cotton. Mrs. Clabbers makes the clothes from taffetas, silks and satins and the bonnets and tiny baskets they carry she skillfully weaves from straw hats.

Her first doll was copied from one purchased by a friend at a Toronto fair. Soon her friends demanded the clever dolls for use as bridge prizes and as ideal gifts. Now she never has a chance to give up her hobby because someone is always asking to buy one. She gets some requests even from Oklahoma (her former home), Dallas, other places in Texas, and Buffalo.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 30.—Secretary of Internal Affairs William S. Livengood, Jr., who will begin another four-year term on May 4, has had only two predecessors whose terms extended more than eight years . . . One was James F. Woodward, of McKeesport, who served from 1919 to 1931, and the other was Henry Houck, of Pottsville, who was first inaugurated in 1907 and died in the middle of his third term. . . . The secretary of internal affairs post was created in 1873 by merging the surveyor general's office with the bureau of statistics. . . . Livengood re-elected last fall on the slate headed by Gov. Edward Martin, will take his oath of office in the Senate chamber

Sen. George Woodward (R) Philadelphia, contends that the reason the constitution of 1873 contained a provision requiring that all bills be read at length on three different days was because the department of property and supplies only had one small printing press. . . . The framers of the constitution, he said, decided to expose the bill to the public and to require the clerk to read the bill at length three times to acquaint the legislators with the measures up for consideration.

The U. S. coast and geodetic survey has disclosed that during the last 280 years 33 partial earthquakes have been felt in Pennsylvania, the last on March 8. . . . The department of internal affairs said that the tremor last month probably originated in the province of Ontario, Canada, and was recorded on a curved line running from Ontario through Michigan, Ohio and from Pittsburgh to Erie. . . . The first tremor, according to the federal agency, was believed to have been felt in 1663 in what is now Western Pennsylvania although it centered around Three Rivers, Quebec. . . Earthquakers are caused either by volcanic eruptions or sudden slipping along planes of stress or fractures of the earth's crust. . . . Slight local tremors may be caused by the collapse of caves or mine roofs.

Warren J. Daniel, director of the land records bureau, has reported that all the original land titles issued by the Duke of York and William Penn more than 275 years ago are on file with the department of internal affairs as required by the constitution. . . . The records, however, are in need of restoration, Daniel said, and the $20,000 appropriated two years ago only covered part of the cost for the work. . . . "The records are falling apart despite the utmost care in their official use," he said. . . . "The books, papers and pages are worn and in many cases defaced and constantly injured by the daily handling to which they are necessarily subjected in the process of daily title searches."

Two Million Pairs Of Discarded Hose Asked For State

Pennsylvania Women Also To Save One Tablespoonful Of Waste Fat Every Day

HARRISBURG, April 30—Pennsylvania women have been asked to turn in a total of two million pairs of discarded silk and nylon hose this month and to save one tablespoonful of waste kitchen fats every day in the year.

Pennsylvania led all other states in hosiery collections during the four months ending March 15, but the State Council of Defense Advisory Salvage Committee emphasized, in setting the April goal, that "every discarded pair of silk house is needed urgently for the manufacture of powder bags."

In many parts of the state, house to house collections of hosiery are being made by Girl Scouts, women's organizations, and schools. Despositories in stores an other centers also are receiving the donations.

Pennsylvaniaa's monthly quota in the fats salvage program is 1,428,500 pounds.

"Only by having every housewife save at least one tablespoonful every day can we meet this quota and do our part to keep American fighters supplied with ammunition," the State Committee asserted.

Although Pennsylvania stood third in total fat collections last month, the amount collected was below the official quota.

WASHES HUSBAND'S GAS RATION STAMPS ALONG WITH PANTS

(International News Service)

COLUMBUS, O., April 30.—Some wives always remember to clean their husbands pockets nightly and then there are those who don't sometimes to their husbands' disadvantage. Take for instance, Mrs. L. H. Dailey, wife of Curtiss-Wright worker Lawrence Dailey.

While Dailey slept, Mrs. Daily dutifully tubbed his work pants, so thoroughly that when she was putting them through the wringer out fell two dripping, soggy wads of paper—his A and B gas ration coupons.

Harassed, Dailey rushed to the ration board to talk it over with Mrs. Dorothy Bull, gasoline rationing clerk. His gas supply was all wet and the board was agreed that something must be done about it. Mrs. Bull issued a new A book so Dailey could get to work. The board will pass on the B book request later.

Yanks Advance In Tunisia With Heavy Fighting

American positions held. Every Nazi charge was thrown back with losses to the enemy.

At hill 609 and along the whole chain of Djebels under dispute the Americans soundly thrashed the enemy and proved their mettle in the face of Arnim's best veterans. Latest battlefront dispatches said the conflict was continuing with undiminished intensity.

Von Arnim obviously drew upon his newest reinforcements heavily in an effort to upset the American lines. The United States command, however, beat him to the punch and opened a new combat area north and east of Medjez-El-Bab, where fierce fighting is under way.

Bloodiest Fighting

The German general regrouped his forces for his rally to forestall the British First Army's threat against Tunis. All front line reports indicated that yesterday's fighting was among the bloodiest of the campaign.

The struggle opened at dawn when the British charged and captured the height of Sidi Abdallah, 12 miles east of Medjez, after violent infantry, tank and artillery duels. During the afternoon Von Arnim threw wave after wave of infantry headed by mechanized units, but these broke down against the British wall amidst heavy bloodshed.

At least 10 German tanks were destroyed during the afternoon.

Defeated at Sidi Abdullah, Von Arnim launched an assault farther north. Supported by two battalions of infantry, mechanized units waged a daylong battle against the British positions but were thrown back. Both sides suffered heavy casualties.

Staggering Nazi Losses

Another scene of bitter bloodshed was Bou Aoukaz, where successive German attacks were launched up its slopes as the enemy commanders tried to oust the British from their footholds some 400 yards from the crest. The Nazi drives failed with staggering losses and the battle now continues there without respite.

The brunt of the Tunisian fighting is being decided along the Djebels in the Medjez-El-Bab region, where the Germans are in the midst of a fierce rally to prevent the Allies from bursting into the Tunis plain. American forces are six miles west of the Bizerte lakes and at the extreme north French units are patrolling both sides of an important road.

Northeast of the road from Medjez-El-Bab to Tebourba, the British took and held Djebel Nara, while the armored pincer west of the Pont Du Fahs-Tunis highway is standing still. Thursday the west slopes of Kournimi were occupied. To the south, the French 19th Corps repulsed determined counter-attacks from the Pont Du Fahs region initiated by heavy artillery barrages.

The Eighth Army is still battling steadily along the southern front.

The British Eighth army in the south was revealed in an official communique from headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to have launched a new local attack at the southern end of the battle line north of Enfidaville where it gained its objective.

"An enemy counter-attack in this sector achieved slight success," the communique continued.

"Various bitter fighting," was reported from the Medjez-El-Bab sector where British armored and infantry forces of Lieut. Gen. Kenneth A. N. Anderson's First army are seeking a break-through to the plain before Tunis.

"The enemy launched determined counter-attacks with tanks and infantry against our recently gained objectives, his main thrust being made against the Djebel Aoukaz," said the communique.

"With the exception of one small gain in the Medjerda area," headquarters announced, "all attacks were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy and our forward positions were maintained."

Troops of the United States second army corps beat down successive Nazi counter-thrusts to gain new ground in local advances.

Furious aerial blows by the Allied air arm over Tunisian battlefronts and across the sea heaped new destruction on the enemy. Allied naval forces continued active in the Sicilian Straits where light naval forces smashed a motor craft in two and damaged two others with gunfire, probably sinking one.

Medium bombers sank two larger vessels in the Sicilian Straits and damaged others with direct hits.

Destroy Many Planes

Destruction of 16 additional Axis planes, 14 of them attempting to protect enemy shipping, also was announced.

"On the night of April 28 and 29th Wellingtons of the strategic air force bombed the El Aouina airfield in Tunisia," said the communique.

"Yesterday medium bombers and fighter-bombers of the strategic air force and fighter-bombers of the tactical air force, with fighter escorts, continued their attacks on enemy shipping in the Gulf of Tunis and the Sicilian Straits.

"Two vessels were sunk and direct hits scored on others. During these attacks strong forces of enemy fighters were encountered, 14 of them being destroyed.

"Attacks on enemy ground positions and troop concentrations were maintained by fighter-bombers of the tactical air force and fighters carried out continuous offensive sweeps and patrols over the battle area.

"During the night of April 28 and 29 two enemy aircraft were destroyed.

Ten Aircraft Missing

'From all these operations 10 of our aircraft are missing."

Relating to the naval action, the communique said:

"Light naval forces operating in the Sicilian Channel on the night of April 28 and 29 met and engaged a flotilla of fast motor craft. One of the enemy vessels was rammed and cut in halves. Two others were damaged by gunfire, one being probably sunk."

Generally holding the upper hand all along the dwindling front, the Allies were locked in seesaw combat on the blood-stained hills guarding the main approaches to the coastal areas before Tunis and Bizerte, the latter a naval base which soon may be subjected to assault by Allied warships.

There was no doubt, despite the terrific opposition and the cost paid by the Allies for advantages gained, that the Axis was being bled into exhaustion at the gateways to Tunis and Bizerte.

CHURCHMAN COMMANDS AUSTRALIAN WARSHIP

(International News Service)

SYDNEY.—An archdeacon of the Anglican church has put aside his eccelsiastical robes for the duration in order to command an Australian warship.

In the last war the Fighting Archdeacon served in a British cruiser squadron. When peace came he went to New Zealand and joined the church.

After Munich he saw that war was inevitable and applied to the British Navy for active duty. They turned him down. Then the Australian Navy offered an appointment and he jumped at it. Now he is in charge of one of the Commonwealth's newest warships.

The ancient Phoenicians are credited with having invented both the fishing line and the fish net, and when they were no longer able to catch fish from the shore, they constructed canoes of hollowed logs and built rafts with bushes for sails to follow the fish out to sea. To them is also credited the invention of shipbuilding and navigation.

Post-War Opportunities Will Be Many Says Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON

(Copyright, 1943, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., April 30.—We still have a long way to go before this global war is ended, but I am optimistic. The longer the war lasts the nearer is its end. Some are impatient over the slowness with which a "second front" is being opened; but in Africa, in stepped-up Allied bombing of the Continent and in other ways we already have a second front. The lives of many men are being saved by cautious and thorough policies. I have great faith in our military leaders and have no arm-chair recommendations to make them. As an economist, however, I am justified in looking forward to some of the opportunities awaiting us.

General Prosperity

Mr. Winston Churchill has predicted that, at the end of the war, the British people will have at their disposal more money per capita than ever before in the nation's history. Likewise in the United States the average person will have considerably more money on hand and far greater purchasing power than ever before. Billions of dollars have been spent in manufacturing destructive war materials during the past three years. While much of this war material is consumed or lost, yet its monetary cost has not been lost. Money can never be destroyed, although its purchasing power may decline. It simply changes hands or takes a new form.

I believe that sufficient cash or credit will be available in our post-war period to handle easily the change-over from armaments to consumer goods. Great new manufacturing enterprises should arise to accommodate the expansion for civilian use of new technological processes now being developed by our scientists. Employment can be available for all if the government will encourage employers to expand and develop new markets.

Science To Lead the Way

Most bankers, merchants and investors are now being rapidly outpaced by the scientists. Physicists, chemists, engineers and others with highly specialized technical backgrounds are bringing about a changed world. This new post-war world is already clear to the young mind, but it will take most readers a little while to appreciate the materials, processes and improved ways of living that we shall have.

More than anything else, scientific research to find new materials and new methods of expanding production will preserve our free enterprise and save our nation from a slump. More jobs can originate in our laboratories, after the war, than can be supplied by a resumption of government aid through Works Progress Administrations. There is no doubt but what private industry, which has learned so much in the last decade, will be able and ready to assume the problems of returning service men and other factors involved in our change-over to civilian living. All industry asks is that the government stop persecuting and abusing it. We even remove the checkrein from a horse when it is pulling up hill.

Great Real Estate Activity

The most recent real estate boom was in Florida in 1924-26. During my visit there this past winter I could not help but notice the advantageous position held by people who owned real properties. This is likewise true in other sections of the country. I am not, however, as optimistic on large city properties as I am on certain farms and realty in small communities. Yet the upward trend in values of city properties has been marked for some time by rising prices for real estate bonds.

Unlike past real estate booms, any coming new boom will be financed on a much sounder money basis. Land purchased will be paid for with Uncle Sam's notes rather than with the notes of "Tom, Dick and Harry". Funds now being raised by the government and represented by war and other types of government bonds will become legal tender. Much of this money will ultimately be invested in the purchase of land and the building of new homes.

Random Forecasts

Certainly, there will be a great revival in the manufacture and use of automobiles. At first few changes will be apparent; but in a few years many radical changes will be made in style and in materials used. Largely because of their lightness, aluminum and plastics will take the place of much steel and iron. Gas engines will be smaller but greatly improved. I foresee the day when the average car will get 40 to 50 miles per gallon of gasoline, and will add that the price of gasoline and the price of automobiles may even be lower.

The field of aeronautics is developing at a tremendous rate. Most of us are agreed that we shall see large freight and passenger-carrying clipper planes reaching almost every point of the earth. With over a million young men learning to fly with a great margin of safety being built up, anyone who can learn to drive a car will also be capable of handling a small plane for his personal use. The helicopter type of plane appeals to me very much in this latter connection.

Spiritual Awakening Needed

It took this war to teach us that we can make synthetic rubber and other products. This makes us independent of the East Indies and Germany. Adequate substitutes for quinine, for example, are already in use; and we have found substitutes for hemp which formerly came only from the Philippines. We are now manufacturing our own potash and nitrogen generally used in fertilizer and in insecticides. Thus, agriculture, particularly through the science of chemurgy, faces a most hopeful future.

Radio as we know it today will be replaced by television. Thusands of people are now being prepared to become customers, manufacturers and distributors of new electronic equipment. Space allows for the consideration of only a very few of the wonderful tools and services that will be made and used in the post-war era. As I consider them my enthusiasm for the future steadily increases provided we have an accompanying spiritual awakening.

Fatal Accident Separates Twins Before Induction

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., April 30.—Death today separated twin brothers from Claysburg who had expected to enter the army together next week.

Galen P. Mussleman, 18, died early this morning in Roaring Spring hospital from injuries received last night when the car in which he and his brother, Mahlon, were riding overturned on the highway between Sproul and Claysburg.

Mahlon, who was uninjured, extricated his brother from the wrecked machine and hurried him to a hospital in a vain effort to save his life. Both were expecting to take final induction examinations together a week from tomorrow.

TOLEDO MUSEUM HAS UNIQUE PHONOGRAPH, OVER 3,000 RECORDS

(International News Service)

TOLEDO, O., April 30.—The Museum of Art provided some "food for thought" as supervisor A. Beverly Barksdale, supervisor of the music department, announced that since 1937 the museum has been hoarding canned stuff—music—in the form of recordings.

Stating that the records are available to the public upon asking, Barksdale related how the museum's collection had grown from a meagre 700 records to the present total of more than 3,000 discs.

He said that every type of music imaginable was represented in the collection, including excerpts from classical Greek, Hebrew and Oriental music, 15 complete operas, 12 operas in abridged form, 40 excerpt form, 75 symphonies, and 650 chamber music works.

A novel record-playing machine designed by Barksdale uses a high fidelity frequency principle which requires no amplification mechanism, and reproduces pure tones from the vibrations of the playing needle itself, is used to play the records. Seventeen pairs of earphones enable the six machines to play to 17 persons without interference.

Boy Scouts Take Flight Training At Fort Benning

(International News Service)

FORT BENNING, Ga., April 30—One of the first Boy Scout Pre-Flight Corps in the country has been formed by a group of boys from Fort Benning—sons of officers and enlisted men.

The boys receive instructions from officers and enlisted men of the Army Air Force during their free hours. The program is aimed at preparing the scouts for acceptance for actual flight training as soon as they are old enough.

Lieut-Col. Virgil Ney, instructor in the Infantry School, started the program, and is in charge of all boys activities at the military post.

Col. Benjamin G. Weir, Air Corps instructor at the Infantry School, gave the boys—all ranging in the age of 15-18 their first course of instructions at the initial meeting of the scout group Col Weir discussed "Early Phases of Aviation," and at a later meeting the officer talked on "Theory of Weather."

Basic flight principles were discussed for the boys by pilots and instructors at Lawson Field, airfield at Fort Benning.

The boys hold meetings one night a week. The scouts are divided into four flights to make up a squadron, with each flight headed by a Flight Pilot.

'EDUCATION FOR WAR SHOULD BE TOUGH'

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA—The war is going to show us our educational soft spots and the hard way, according to Dr. Frederick H. Lund, who believes too many college freshmen are homesick and too many high school students tell the teachers "to go to hell."

A professor of psychology at Temple university, Dr. Lund is looking to the 18-19-year-old draft to show us these soft spots.

"Education for war should be tough," he said. "How can we expect to have discipline in the field if these young men can't stand disciplinary action in college?"

"Pupils must be taught to obey first. Then there should be a hardening of the curriculum so that the pupil is forced to develop adequate work habits."

Work Stoppage At Kobuta Plant

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 30—A week-long jurisdictional dispute between two AFL unions today resulted in a work stoppage of 150 men engaged in vital construction work at the government's synthetic rubber plant at nearby Kobuta.

The striking men were members of local 3, AFL-bridge and structural iron workers, who clashed with members of local 5, AFL Internaworkers over the right to unload an eight-ton circuit breaker from a truck at the plant.

Federal mediators are expected to be called in later today to conciliate the dispute and bring about a quick resumption of work.

Expect At Least 55,000 To See Wartime Derby

Decide Field Today; Fleet Top Favorite

Crowd May Swell To 75,000; Foresee 10-11 Horses In Saturday Classic

ODDS ON FLEET NOW ARE 3 TO 5

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 30—This is the day when the field for the strangest of all Kentucky Derbies will be decided—the day when the entries will go into the box for those 10 or 11 horses that will try to out-run Count Fleet, the one that many horsemen insist can live to be the greatest thoroughbred in the history of the American turf.

Along with it entries of the rest who will oppose him in the run for the roses before a crowd that may be cut to 55,000 because of wartime restrictions but which probably will swell to 75,000 or even more by the time they get away on the big event of the blue grass country tomorrow.

Few Owners Undecided

On the eve of the derby the owners who expect to go, all sought to make sure of all last minute preparations for the entries and some even waited until blowouts this morning to decide whether to enter, although by and large they knew well in advance whether they should go for whatever they could get against the Fleet, which has been established as the No. 1 horse with Ocean Wave or Slide Rule or Blue Swords in the second spot.

As the entry box opened today, the probable field with jockeys and odds were:

Count Fleet, Johnny Longden, 3 to 5; Ocean Wave, Wendel Eads, 3 to 1; Blue Swords, Johnny Adams, 6 to 1.; Gold Shower, Teddy Atkinson, 8 to 1; Slide Blue, Conn McCreary, 15 to 1; Twoses, (no boy), 15 to 1; Amber Light, Alf Robertson, 25 to 1; No Wrinkles, Ray Adair, 30 to 1; Modest Lad, Charlie Swain, 40 to 1; Dove Pie, (no boy), 50 to 1; Bankrupt, Ferrill Zufelt, 50 to 1; and Burnt Cork, probably Carrol Bierman, 50 to 1. Creast also may be nominated, his jockey undetermined.

Distance 1¼ Miles

This is the race where all those great two-year-olds will get a chance to prove that they belong in the main event of three-year-olds, in a grind of 1 ¼ miles with all entries packing 126 pounds.

With nine races on the program and the public loaded with folding stuff, an all-time betting record is a possibility. The mark was established at Belmont last May when the public sent $2,176,071 through the iron machines.

Zivic-LaMotta Fight On May 24

PITTSBURGH, April 30—Fritzie Zivic and Jake LaMotta have been signed to head the first outdoor boxing show of the season at Forbes Field, it was announced today. The pair fights on May 24.

OHIO ENTRY

BLUE SWORDS, owned by Allen T. Simmons of Akron, O., was one of the heavy money winners as a two-year-old last season. Son of Blue Larkspur-Flaming Swords, the bay coated racer won $35,065 last year in winning five races, two seconds and two thirds in 12 starts. Blue Swords ran second to Count Fleet in the Wood Memorial this year and hasn't been out since. Count Fleet beat him twice last year. (International)

Columbus Trips Louisville, 5-3

American Association League Openers Marred By Bad Weatherman

COLUMBUS, April 30—That bad weatherman took a hand in yesterday's American Association league openers and wrecked an otherwise color-loaded program.

Columbus, last year's champion, opened, however, and captured a 5-3 decision over Louisville. The Colonels hopped off to a 3-0 edge in the fourth, but the Birds pecked away at the margin and bagged the verdict in the eighth.

Other games were postponed.

Sports Ramblings

Parade of sports bits:----

Additional proof that soldiers over there want the sports wheel over here turning came from the lips of blue-eyed Captain Clyde S. Uber, of 824 Lathrop street, who is home on a deserved furlough after spending the past 10 months blasting away at the Axis in Africa. His face showing the effects of the scorching sun that beats down relentlessly on the Lybian Desert, the east sider repeated my question—"Do soldiers really want sports?" . . . .

His reply was an emphatic, "I should say we do. You should see us crowd around the bulletin board when various sports results are posted. And, during last football season, you should have seen the betting." The ex-Thiel college gridder, who has been serving with the Eighth Army, has 310 combat flying hours on his slate and has been awarded the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal. The six-foot athlete, here for 10 days, can't wait until he gets back to help "wipe out the dastardly Axis" . . . .

I thought the basketball season ended weeks ago. Today, I find I'm wrong again. Wampum high's 1943-44 cage hands, stepping ahead of the field, scored its initial triumph of the season at the hands of Ellwood City high's 1943-44 troupe. The game was played in Wampum and the final score was 46-38 . . . Howard Currie, the ex-Shenango-Geneva college football tackle, now is stationed at Sheppard Field, Texas. He is taking an air corps mechanics course . . . .

Want something that's as sure as tomorrow is Saturday? Chuck a few bobs on Count Fleet. Ocean Wave will follow the Hertz nag across the Derby finish line. I fancy No Wrinkles for third place. Burnt "Rochester" Cork cinch last if he runs . . There's no truth to the rumor that Fred Apostoli, ex-middleweight champion, is missing in action, according to the boxer's manager . . .

Tommy Hughes, minus worries he had twirling with the Phils last season, has gained 12 pounds in Uncle Sam's Army . . . Outfielder Roberto Estalella, now with the Athletics, is the shortest performer in the American league. He stands only 5 feet 6 . . . The Phillies have been trying to induce Hal Trosky, former Cleveland first sacker, to return to the game. Now he's more determined than ever to stick on his Iowa farm. You can hardly blame the fellow. He deserves a better break than that . . . .

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Among those who took in the sight of the cauliflower eared family belaboring each other in The Arena Wednesday night was none other than the aged, yet spirited Elmo the Mighty (Clark). After watching the youngsters cavort, Elmo remarked: "Gee, I wish I was born 30 years later. A lot of these fellows at the top now wouldn't be there if I was as tough as I was." The writer who matched Elmo for his bowl encounters, asked: "Say, Elmo, you fought a guy named Chuck Taggart, didn't you?" The former Mighty Son of Punch gazed intently then exclaimed: "You would bring that up. I was all in and tired before I started that night."

Among those who came to the fight was Mike Shulick, former state policeman. He retired on pension from the force some time ago and is holding down a policeman berth in an Ellwood City plant. State Policemen Blythe, Hardy, McCullough and several others came over from Butler, likewise "Chuck" Floring, former boxing promoter of Butler. It was "Chuck" who had lots to do with the Zelarinos when they were active. Speaking of Hardy, (first name, John,) he trained Rich Gregory in the latter's amateur days. Rich was good at that time and if his hands had not gone bad he would have proved very good in the pros. Hardy informed us that Rich is with the armed forces somewhere in the Pacific. When Rich and Dick DeSantis of Kittanning fought years ago in Ellwood City, it was as neat a 122-pound fight as one could hope to witness between amateurs.

There'll be a boxing show next month. Arrangements are now being made for a fistic entertainment for the benefit of the New Castle hospital. They benefitted to a nice extent through a boxing bout last year.

Some of the boys who float around the pugilistic rialto were discussing the Ramer-Sweeney bout of Wednesday night. Some believed Sweeney "passed out" of his own volition because he accepted a 10-count sitting down. The writer had his eyes off the fight when we heard the "kerplunk" and Sweeney setting down and some fans said he had not been hit. Attorney John Powers entered the discussion. "He was struck. The blow landed beneath his ear. I saw the punch. He was half-groggy while seated," he asserted so, if any injustice was done Sweeney when we accredited Ramer with an "empty victory" we swallow the words. A punch landed beneath the ear is as deadly a sock as one can deliver. In fact old timers always sought that place because a punch there cuts off the "circuit" to the brain.

Bronze Workers Honor Bisons

Bisons Win Daylight League Championship; Ross Is Individual High Scorer

Bisons, champions of the Johnson Bronze Daylight Bowling league, were feted last night in the Loyal Order of Moose banquet hall. Trophies were awarded to Red Ciotto, captain, and also members of the winning team. Competition was keen in the first half of the season, but toward the end of the second half it was not sharp, according to speakers.

The Senators, with Joe Bosco as captain, took the first half for second place and second place for the second half went to the Dodgers, with Jim Faichey as captain.

The Dodgers also led the first half for third place, and second place honors for the second half went to the Browns, with Ray Campoli as captain.

Frank Ross High

The Senators captured the team high for three games with 2,694 pins, and first place for one game went to the Browns with 947 pins.

The individual high for one game went to Frank Ross, and second place went to F. Merando. Individual high for three games was won by Ray Campoli with 598 pins. He also captured the high individual average with 161 pins.

Gerald C. McAnallen, league president, was toastmaster at the chicken dinner. Other guests were Factory Manager Harry Stenger, Joseph Diffley and Ed. Fritz, of The News.

Rookies, Castoffs Shine In Majors

Charley Barrett Tames Giants; Vander Meer Handcuffs Bucs, 6-1

CARDS, YANKEES TRIUMPH AGAIN

By JOHN CASHMAN
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 30.—Importance of rookies and castoffs in 1943 baseball has seen sudden and dramatic emphasis in the past two days, particularly in games involving the New York Giants.

Yesterday, Connie Ryan, who was traded from the Giants to the Boston Braves, because he was supposedly a weak link, looked his former teammates in the eye and busted up their game Wednesday with a ninth-inning homer; rookie pitcher, Charley Barrett, after thwarting the Giants in his first mound assignment, did it yesterday.

International Star

Barrett is fresh from the International league, where he was voted the outstanding player of 1942. Yesterday, he held the Giants to a half-dozen singles, and cinched his own game by slashing out a Texas leaguer to bring in two runs. Up to that fateful eighth frame, he had pitched his club into a 3 to 2 lead, and when his bat and pitching hand were stilled for the day, the Braves had a 5 to 2 victory.

Elsewhere, there were not many shining heroes. The Brooklyn Dodgers, comprised mainly of veterans, swept their three-game series with the Philadelphia Phillies with a 4 to 3 win over the Phillies. Two sixth inning errors by the Philadelphians helped the Dodgers score three runs and set up a lead, which they held to the finish.

Pushing over four runs in the twelfth inning, the New York Yankees won their first extra-inning contest of the year, whipping the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 3.

Bucs Drubbed, 6-1

Behind the six-hit pitching of Johnny Vander Meer, the Cincinnati Reds blasted the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6 to 1.

The Washington Senators defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 5 to 1, by taking advantage of wildness on the part of their A's hurlers. The Senators collected only five hits, while the A's rounded up nine.

Twelfth inning singles by Jimmy Brown, Stan Musial and Ray Sander gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 4 to 3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Virgil Trucks allowed only four hits to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 3 to 2 win over the St. Louis Browns.

HOLDS RECORD

Jackie Fellows, Fresno State halfback, holds the new collegiate passing record. Two completed touchdown passes against Loyola ran his 1942 total to 21, two more than the record held jointly by Davey O'Brien, Texas Christian, and Paul Governali, Columbia.

Lombardi Traded

CATCHER ERNIE LOMBARDI, above, batting champion of the National league, has been traded by the Boston Braves in a straight player deal to the New York Giants. The Giants gave up Catcher Hugh Poland and Infielder Connie Ryan for Lombardi. (International)

War Department Will Not Sanction Louis-Conn Fight

Secretary Of War Stimson Ends Latest Talk About Title Meeting

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 30—Secretary of War Stimson declared today that the army will not sanction a Joe Louis-Billy Conn heavyweight boxing bout in New York this summer.

Asked at a news conference what the army's attitude would be regarding an attempt to match the two fighters in a title bout, Stimson asserted:

Won't Sponsor Bout

"I can assure you that the war department will not sponsor or approve a Louis-Conn fight this summer."

A scheduled meeting between Louis, heavyweight champion now a sergeant in the cavalry and Conn, a corporal, was called off last October after the army refused to sanction the fight.

Conn recently was transferred from Camp Lee, Va., in connection with a "routine" shift of men from that post to combat duty.

BOSTON, April 30.—Pvt. Ray "Sugar" Robinson of the army will enter the ring a heavy favorite over Freddie Cabral of Cambridge tonight.

Although army life has limited Robinson's training, he doesn't expect much trouble with the Cambridge welterweight.

Robinson has won 29 of his 42 professional fights by knockouts and was defeated only once in some 140 contests.

Maj. Hanley Says Sports Moves Aid In Actual Combat

Natural Muscular Movements Of Sports Adapted To Combat Use

"Natural muscular movements of standard sports are adapted to combat use," says Maj. R. E. (Dick) Hanley, noted former football coach now at the Marine Corps Camp Pendleton, establishing a new combat conditioning school.

Major Hanley specifies: "The backhand in tennis entails a movement that is very effective in hand-to-hand combat. The action of throwing a baseball or passing a football is duplicated in throwing a hand grenade. The follow-through in golf is useful in certain combat conditions."

Taught All Wrinkles

Partisians of the polite sports of golf and tennis may be surprised by Major Hanley's further declaration that "troops are taught all the latest wrinkles in alley fighting."

Three hundred and fifty hand-picked officers and enlisted men from throughout the United States now are at Camp Pendleton taking this new Devil Dog physical conditioning course. Each 30 days graduates of the school will be dispersed to every Marine base in the world.

Eight Michigan State Stars Killed In War

First to die was Gordon O. Kibbe, of Allegan, a freshman numeral winner in wrestling, who was killed in an aviation accident at Victoria Field in Texas, January 27, 1942. Perhaps the best known was Captain Roger Keast, of Lansing, who was shot by a sniper while leading his men on a dangerous mission during the New Guinea campaign near Buna. Keast won major letters in basketball, track and football.

Bennett Listed

Lieut. Ralph E. Bennett, member of State's Orange Bowl football team of 1938, died a prisoner of the Japanese last May in the Philippines, where he was wounded in fighting at Manila. He was from Mt. FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

It ain't go'na rain no more, it ain't go'na rain no more. How in the heck can you wash your neck . . . when it ain't go'na rain no more? Personally I don't care if my neck was dirty for a couple or three weeks . . . would sure like to get a garden planted . . . and a field or two of corn in. But there is a reason for everything . . . who will be the one to read the signs today?

* * *

New Castle's U. S. O. Center was officially opened last evening . . . it is located on the diamond and if you haven't been down to inspect it, you should do so this week. Friday and Saturday will probably be the busy time for those who work the Center . . . seeing that the visiting service men are entertained should not be a difficult task. The boys who will come to New Castle will just be like the boys in your family . . . They like cookies, they like to dance and they like to be invited out to dinner. In order to invite a service man out to dinner you must, according to the government, be on the accepted list. How do you manage this. Call at the U. S. O. Center and the officer in charge will explain the procedure. All activities connected with or attached to the U. S. O. must be approved by the Federal Government . . . please abide by the laws set and all will work out beautifully.

* * *

People are running around today . . . some just don't know where to turn. Points to the left of them, points to the right of them and the thundering crowd keeps pushing them along. Yes, red and blue stamps that were good in the Month of April expire at midnight tonight. We talked to some people yesterday who had plenty of blue stamps but no red and then it was the other way around with some others. All in all, more people today are able to buy all they need than before the point system went into effect . . . there are some adjustments needed but those in charge will do that as time goes on. Time is a healer of many things. Don't get lost in the crowd . . . if you have a stamp or two left over . . don't fret. Just plant another plant in your Victory Garden . . . maybe next winter you won't need any canned food stamps. Mighty tough on the grocer.

* * *

Don't forget the classified ad page . . . it will get results quicker than you can take a bath . . . well, these ads are fast anyhow.

STOCK MARKET MOVES AHEAD

Trading Is Heavy At Start Of Market; Large Blocks Of Stocks Sold

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 30.—The stock market continued to move ahead in active dealings today, although progress was slow by a dribble of profit-taking. While gains generally were limited to fractions, a few issues climbed a point or more. Many representative stocks reached new high for the year.

Trading was heavy at the start, when blocks running to 18,000 shares of Radio Corp. and 10,000 shares of International Telephone changed hands. The pace slowed somewhat later. A few stocks slipped behind minus signs.

Among stocks to hit new peaks were American Telephone, International Telephone, Radio Corp., Studebaker, Firestone, Hiram Walker, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Borden, National Biscuit, Southern Pacific, Standard Oil of California, Gimbel Bros., American Water Works and Celanese.

Before realizing set in, Allied Chemical, Case, American Car & Foundry, U. S. Smelting and American Can each were up a point or more.

ELLWOOD BOND SALES REPORT TRIPLES QUOTA

Notable Record Is Made In Second War Loan By Ellwood City

ELLWOOD CITY, April 30.—The Community spirt of Ellwood City really came to the front when $616,765.50 worth of War Bonds was sold on Thursday. This swells the total sales of War Bonds here to $1,513,412.00, which is almost triple the quota set by the Second area of the United States Treasury Department. While other cities are struggling to reach their quotas, Ellwood City will keep on swelling the Second War Loan Fund today which is the last day of the campaign.

Campaign officials through their chairman R. Charles Stiefel, Jr., were high in their praise of the 125 workers who did such a wonderful job in soliciting all the homes in Ellwood City and the vicinity. Workers here worked from early morning until far into the night and to them goes the credit for the overwhelming success of the campaign. Boys in the armed services from Ellwood City are sending in cards of congratulations to the War Bond headquarters at the Chamber of Commerce. The boys are proud to know that the home town is backing them up with War Bonds as they know that financial backing is the big point in helping to win this war quickly and victoriously.

All those who have purchased a War Bond of $500.00 or more and wish to attend the dinner sponsored by the Moose are urged to sign the reservation blank found elsewhere in this paper and mail it into the Chamber of Commerce.

High School Play Draws Good Crowd

Senior Class Will Repeat Performance Of "Sky Road" Tonight At 8 O'Clock

ELLWOOD CITY, April 30.—Starring roles by Vera Jean Smith and Don Magee featured the presentation of the senior class play last night at the Lincoln auditorium before a good sized audience, who gave the entire group of performers a fine ovation at close of the last act. The complete performance will be repeated at 8 o'clock tonight.

The play entitled "Sky Road," had for its background the early days of commercial passenger flying when pilots flew principally by luck and the idea of stewardesses was just beginning.

The grounding of a stewardess because of panic in an air line crash resulting in her attempting suicide, and the blind flying of a pilot to bring a specialist for her is the main plot of the play, which naturally ends happily.

Don Magee, millionaire flyer, who is reported lost after a crash, poses incognito as Bill Jones, pilot, and makes the schedule flights, and, of course, makes the mercy flight. His portrayal of a westerner was one of the bright spots of the play. He enacted his role in an outstanding manner. The romantic part was provided by pretty Vera Jean Smith, as "Lucky" Parker, the line's most popular hostess, whose professed dislike of Jones is interpreted correctly by the audience as heart interest.

Loretta Wilson as the happy-go-lucky stewardess, pepped up the presentation considerably with her fine handling of a comedy role, and Ann Stasick was convincing as the chief stewardess. Janice Wilson's enactment of the hard-boiled newspaperwoman pleased the audience.

The performance was directed by Miss Elizabeth McKnight, who has successfully directed the senior class plays for a number of years. The costumes were made by the advanced sewing class under the direction of Miss Helen Crowley and the high school orchestra directed by Paul Winter provided music before the play.

The complete cast in order of appearance included: Mary Elizabeth Badger, Audrey Young, Leona Miller, Ann Stasick, Janice Wilson, Ben Carbeau, Loretta Wilson, Dick Downing, Vera Jean Smith, Jackie Fike, Douglas Ferguson, Charles Gibbons, Don Magee, Frances Hogue, Joe Wilson and Patsy Zingaro.

Committee included: Stage crew, Bill Owens, Bud Emerick, Peggy Elder, Dorothy Adler and Phyllis Dunning.

Business managers, Bill Schmidt and Robert Doerr.

Advertising, Irene Chima, Fred Jackson, James O'Shurak, Jerry Young and Rose Farinelli.

Bookholders, Dorothy Holliday and Clara Wooster.

Faculty advisors, Howell Williams and Grace Brown.

Ushers, Celeste Martino, Marian Martin, Betty Steffler, Julia Terlesky, Anna Verdecchia, Gladys Weisz, Betty Risko, Helen Bentrim, Elizabeth Prokup, Leona Sutkowski, June Smith, Helen Stewart, Patricia McCullough, Bill Cather, Paul McKenna, Fred Jackson, Ray Weingartner, James O'Shurak, Don Gillespie and James Mercuri.
